CRASH COURSE IN JEWISH MUSIC - IT'S ORIGIN, EVOLUTION AND BIGGEST STARS

EDUCATOR: Rabbi Benzion Klitzko

DATES: February 3, 10, 17, March 3

February 3

JEWISH MUSIC TODAY - LET'S WORK BACKWARDS

Jewish Music has been under-appreciated and oversimplified for too long. What is the state of the art, and how did we get here?

February 10

THE SPIRIT AND THE SPIRITUAL - MUSIC'S HIGHER CALLING

From Biblical times until today, music has been an integral part of the Jewish service. Let's explore its origins and traditions.

February 17

RECLAIMING MUSIC'S JEWISH IDENTITY - WHO WERE THE FOREFATHERS OF JEWISH MUSIC'S RESURGENCE

Beginning with the cantors in the early part of the 20th century, through the early pioneers of recording, we take a unique musical journey while giving credit to these talented musical geniuses and visionaries.

March 3

THE CURRENT STARS AND THE FUTURE OF JEWISH MUSIC

Jewish Music has exploded in genre, color, style and diversity. From Israeli artists to current klezmer, from harmonic choirs to new age, stripped-down acoustic performances, from EDM to Chassidic soul music, there is much to explore.

IN ADDITION TO THESE CLASSES,
we will be hosting guest artists,
producers, and singers to join us and share their wisdom and experience.

FOR THOSE WHO ATTEND ALL FOUR CLASSES, you'll have the opportunity to submit one of your original pieces for comments and critique by some of the leading artists and producers in the Jewish music industry!

CRASH COURSE IN JUDAICA AND JEWISH ART: APPRECIATION, BEAUTY AND INVESTMENT

EDUCATOR: Rabbi Benzion Klatzko

DATES: February 4, 11, 18, March 4

February 4

JEWISH ART TODAY - LET'S WORK BACKWARDS

Why is there Jewish art? Why is there practically no Jewish art pre-1850? Does having distinct Jewish art even matter to us as a nation? From Biblical times until today, art has been an integral part of the Jewish service. Let's explore its origins and traditions, its importance and why art may be more spiritual than you think.

February 11

WHAT MAKES ART JEWISH?

If the subject is Jewish, does that define the art as Jewish? What about the artist? Is Israeli art automatically Jewish? How about Holocaust art? This class will tackle the question of how Jewish art is defined.

February 18

RECLAIMING ART'S JEWISH IDENTITY - WHO WERE THE FOREFATHERS OF MODERN JEWISH ART'S RESURGENCE

Beginning with artists in the mid-1800's Jewish art went through rapid twenty-year cycles. Who were those pioneers and why are there so few of each of their pieces and genre available today? Where does Chagall fit in? Who are some of the other important names?

March 4

THE CURRENT STARS AND THE FUTURE OF JEWISH ART FOR BEAUTY AND INVESTMENT

Jewish Art has exploded in genre, color, style and diversity. From Israeli artists to Russian technical experts, from folk art to colorful abstract and impressionistic pieces, there is a new world of opportunities in the Jewish art market.

FOR THOSE WHO ATTEND ALL FOUR CLASSES, you'll have the opportunity to submit one of your original pieces for comments and critique by some of the leading artists and curators! And if a connection with someone in the industry would be helpful, we will facilitate an introduction.

About the Educators

RABBI AARON EISEMANN

Rabbi Aaron Eisemann can't seem to graduate from university. After 22 years on campus, seven at the University of Michigan and 15 at NYU he's as excited and passionate as an incoming freshman. His many adoring fans on campus, love his passionate presentations on Jewish thought, mindfulness, and spirituality which empower their lives with a deeper understanding and love of Judaism.

Don't forget to sign up for his weekly videos and podcasts!

RABBI GAVRIEL HORAN

Rabbi Gavriel Horan was born in Manhattan, where he attended a prestigious fine arts high school. He has since lived in many different locations around the world and has been involved in informal Jewish education and outreach on college campuses for close to a decade. He currently lives in Baltimore, MD with his wife and children where he runs RAJE (Russian American Jewish Experience) Maryland, while also moonlighting as a psychotherapist, freelance journalist and grant writer.

RABBI BENZION KLATZKO

Rabbi Benzion Klatzko has served as a pulpit Rabbi in New York and New Jersey, as well as the campus Rabbi at UCLA. He currently serves as a Senior Manager of the Olami Organization and lectures at dozens of North American universities each year. He also founded the Akiva Trips to Israel and Poland.

Music

Rabbi Klatzko and the Klatzko family has been synonymous with Jewish music for many years. His song, “Wings” was composed when he was ten years old and was later published and performed in a Jewish “All-Stars” album. The Klatzko musical experience can readily be found on Spotify and Youtube, with songs like “Al Tirah” and “The Chupah Song” which are sung around the world. The State of Israel commissioned Rabbi Klatzko to compose and perform a song called “The Aliya Song.” The Klatzko family performs a weekly musical Havdalah which is live-streamed on Facebook to thousands of viewers. Rabbi Klatzko has worked with some of the biggest performers and entertainers in Jewish music today and continues to compose and produce Jewish music at a high level.

Art

Rabbi Klatzko has been an avid patron of the Jewish arts since his days in California, some twenty years ago. He advises and guides investors and collectors in how to curate a meaningful and impactful collection that will provide the satisfaction of ownership now as well as a lucrative financial nest egg for the future. He has been involved in various galleries throughout his lifetime and has befriended many of Jewish art’s greatest luminaries. His knowledge of art history, as well as the evolution of Jewish art, makes him eminently qualified to deliver this groundbreaking series.
